This invention relates to isothiazolone bleaching compositions and more particularly to such compositions containing 2-pyridone. Isothiazolones are excellent biocides and have found a multitude of uses. In part due to their stability and potent biocidal properties isothiazolones are used in many households to eliminate molds, algae, fungi and bacteria that cause unsightly stains on surfaces. Additionally, the isothiazolones are good biocides because they are environmentally safe and do not adversely affect humans. 2-pyridone has been found to enhance the activity of many isothiazolone compounds. Unfortunately, the presence of 2-pyridone can undesirably interfere with the biocidal properties of the isothiazolone. Thus, a need exists for isothiazolone compositions containing 2-pyridone." | rowspan=3 align=center|8 | align=left| |
