The new, more realistic 3D player models – including running speed, off the ball motion and collision response – are driven by a new AI engine and physics system. The new in-game camera is the “Fox Engine” developed by EA Canada, utilising a new global illumination engine that gives players the ability to see through smoke, fog and smoke grenades. Official FIFA 22 launch trailer A plethora of new control options to better meet players’ needs. An expanded online platform with new social features. The addition of thousands of new licensed players, including players from the Turkish Super Lig, Morocco World Cup Qualifiers and the French Ligue 1. The inclusion of more than 100 players from the 2019 FIFA Women’s World Cup World Cup U23s. “We’re excited to showcase the FIFA 20 demo to our fans on the E3 stage today,” said Peter Moore, Head of FIFA. “The Fox Engine in FIFA 20 delivers amazing visuals, smarter controls, and a comprehensive set of enhancements to bring a deeper level of realism to the game. In addition to those new features, the core gameplay of FIFA 22 will be completely overhauled to deliver a more enjoyable and authentic experience for millions of fans around the world.” “Given the appeal of FIFA 20, we’re looking forward to demonstrating more of what the Fox Engine will bring to the game,” said Matt Stephens, Executive Producer of FIFA 20. “For the first time, we’re able to fully utilize the Fox Engine to create an on-field experience that is more lifelike and immersive than ever before. We’re excited to show what we’ve been able to accomplish by getting all 22 players into motion capture suits.” The demo of FIFA 20 will be available on EA’s live entertainment streaming platform Twitch, beginning at 11 a.m. PT / 2 p.m. ET on June 10. Players will also have a chance to win a limited edition FIFA 20 FIFA Ultimate Team Edition before its worldwide release on June 14. During the demo players will be able to play as two-time FIFA World Player of the Year Lionel Messi and France 2018 FIFA World Cup™ winner Antoine Griezmann. In addition, players can access many new and existing content which includes the FIFA 20 Training

Features Key:

- Create the newest club in FIFA, design your kits, style your stadium, and choose whether to compete with the elite or rise up from the lower divisions as you manage your club to glory.
- Experience a complete Player Career mode that gives you more ways to progress, achieve, and immerse yourself in your Pro’s journey through the game.
- Revolutionary “Career Progression System” gives you more control and flexibility to unlock and play new players. Horizontal and vertical stats determine how far you can progress your Pro. FIFA is an authentic football simulation. It starts with FIFA Authentic Motion (FAM), our ground-breaking advancement in artificial intelligence, which uses the real-world movements of footballers from around the world to give every player a new and individual on-field performance. Combine that with every blade of grass, every stadium, every weather condition, and every opponent's skills, strengths, and weaknesses and FIFA comes to life like never before. FIFA Ultimate Team is a free-to-play digital card game that evolves with your single player experience and is packed with all of the leagues, teams, and players from the real-world game. Future FIFA games will also feature innovations in gameplay for franchise modes, including customizable experience points, player attributes, chemistry, and atmosphere. FIFA 20 is FIFA's 10th release and first entry on the next-generation of consoles. FIFA is a registered trademark of Electronic Arts Inc.

Q: Is there a way to change return type of angular http request? I made an angular 4 application that returns an Observable of ResponseBody. On other side I use a REST service that returns just string. Is there a way to change the return type of my request or get rid of "ResponseBody" type and go with just a string?

A: You can use a Typescript conditional type to cast the result to the type you want:

fetchNews (params: string) { return this.http.get(`${this.API_URL}/getNews/${params}`) .map(res => { if(res instanceof Response) return res.json(); else return ""; })
