

Admiral Diagnostics is the first and only diagnostic tool that has been developed and used by Admiral Diagnostics® to access and diagnose real-time data. Admiral Diagnostics Diagnostic Tools are used by medical facilities and organizations to better manage their technology infrastructure. Named after the celebrated admiral, Admiral Diagnostics diagnostic tools help the Medical facilities and organizations to optimize and automate the performance of their IT environment. The tools make it possible for administrators to access and analyse the performance data that is generated by the technology infrastructure. Admiral Diagnostics contains two main sets of products – EEM (Engineering, Electronics, Mechanical), and DMI (Data Management, Information, Analytics, and Reporting). These products address different IT issues and perform different sets of diagnostic functions. For example, DMI is designed to monitor performance, capacity, and availability of IT data storage systems. The diagnostic tools include reports, dashboards, and workflow templates, allowing the diagnostic results to be presented in the form of visualizations to better understand and evaluate the impact of the measured data. What is new in official Admiral Diagnostics version 2.6.0: Two new additions to the flagship product are the New Process and Database Dashboards. New Process Dashboard The New Process Dashboard (available only in the Enterprise Edition) helps to trace out trends and patterns in the processing of workloads. The process dashboard allows medical facilities to better manage their IT infrastructure, especially in the context of their long term goals. Database Dashboard The Database Dashboard is designed to monitor database performance. It monitors and analyzes data changes and errors in data tables. The Dashboard shows information on performance of the database components, such as tables, indexes, views and clustered indexes. It provides a graphical representation of the performance of tables with the help of database profiling, index views and tables with overlapping data. Two new additions to the flagship product are the New Process and Database Dashboards. More functions are included in the Diagnostic Tools. A list of them is as follows: – Now you can diagnose and report all available RAID level in all modules. – Now you can issue a diagnostic command in the “Command Line” in the standalone products, and you can now use the command line in the Enterprise Edition. – Now you can issue a diagnostic command in the “Command Line” in the standalone products, and you can now use the command line

KEYMACRO is a software designed to control a wide range of ‘keyboard macros’, which enable you to set up codes to be automatically entered on specific keyboards. Keyboard macros are like mini programs that can be triggered by keyboard shortcuts, and can be used to perform special tasks on your computer. And, to be more specific, they can be programmed to perform key combinations that, when pressed, open or run specific software or launch a specific file. KEYMACRO allows you to create custom keyboard macros that perform specific tasks without having to constantly enter commands. KEYMACRO comes with a simple-to-use user interface that allows you to define your own keyboard macros. The interface is extremely easy-to-use, and you can even adjust the number of keyboards that can be controlled by the same macro. KEYMACRO stands out because it is able to create macros that can be programmed to control the following:

- Start-up programs and utilities
- Web browsers
- Media players
- Text editors
- Windows applications

In addition, it can also create macros for Windows programs such as Outlook, Mail, etc.

- Shortcuts to PDF files
- Shortcuts to Zip files
- Shortcuts to Text files

And much more! Dedicated to Microsoft Windows, KEYMACRO does not require any specific software to run. It works on any version of Windows, and can control all versions between Windows 7 and Windows 10. NOTE:

- In order to program a KEYMACRO, you will need to have a working knowledge of computers.
- In order to fully utilize the macro recorder functionality, you will need to have a working knowledge of computers.
- KEYMACRO can only be used on one computer at a time.
- KEYMACRO does not require any registration to use.
- For any assistance or to make suggestions on how to make your own keyboard macros, you can visit the website: Key Features:

- All programs can be controlled by keyboard shortcuts.
- Settings can be customised for each application.
- In-depth information is available for each
